RE: Site Inspection, Locust - Spider Mine, M/037/008

On June 2, 1987 Frank Filas attempted to reach this small (less than one acre) Atlas Mine. This mine was reopened by Atlas in 1977. The mine was shut down in 1979 after mining less than 2000 tons of ore.

The road to this mine is washed out by the South Canyon drainage. A gas line road further to the east was used to get within a mile of the mine. The mine consists of a narrow access road and a couple of portals on the side of a mesa. No trash or buildings were observed through binoculars.
